COMPOSED, EDITED, AND PRINTED BY AND FOR THE EMPLOYEES OF IEEE
VOLUME 1 JUNE 14 1965, NUMBER 2

CONDOLENCES

As we go to press the sad news of the passing of Mrs. Fink, mother of General Manager Donald G. Fink, on Sunday June 6, 1965, has reached us. On behalf of the entire IEEE staff we wish to express our sorrow for his loss.

IN THIS ISSUE

In keeping with our publication policy, we are striving with each issue to revamp and improve our offerings. For the delight of those who like to try something new in cookery, you will find "The Gourmet", edited by Margot Houston, of the Editorial Department. We hope our readers will contribute to this column some of their favorite recipes, especially if the recipe contains an unusual touch, or something which is not universally known.

Another new addition is a column edited by Marilyn Ambler, also of the Editorial Department, which will cover places of particular interest in New York, which will in this and future issues, include off-beat restaurants and places and things not commonly known even by native New Yorkers.

THANK YOU

The first publication of our Bulletin brought many encouraging remarks and we of the Publication Staff are gratified that our efforts have not been extended in vain. Though we have not decided on a permanent publication name as yet, many names were submitted. However, we are sure that the next issue will be named and published with due credit to the originator.

PRINT PROBLEM

The first issue of the IEEE Bulletin was painstakingly varityped and justified, and the net result was a professional looking publication. However the time consumed in this type of preparation may not allow handling it in this manner in the future. It is therefore hoped that the quality lost in composition may be overshadowed by the quality of the news presented.

PARTY GIRL

A completely surprised Lydia Hines was the guest of honor at a party given by her many friends on Wednesday, May 26, on the celebration of her retirement from IEEE. About eighty co-workers and former co-workers attended and a short program was offered with Warren Braun as a very able Master of Ceremonies.

Our General Manager, Mr. Fink, did the honors for IEEE and, before presenting Lydia with her watch, commented on the esteem with which she is held by all who know her. With considerable emotion Lydia accepted this tribute.

Miss Emily Sirjane was then called on and after telling Lydia of the pleasure it has been to have her on her staff for these many years (Lydia said it was easy because she had such a wonderful Lady Boss), she presented Lydia with a check which was a gift from her many friends at IEEE. The Printing Department boys prepared the lovely card which carried a picture of the 1 East 79 Street building and the present home of IEEE on the face and on the back were the names of all who contributed their bit to give Lydia a good send-off.

Peter Hurley, wrote a poem, "A Tribute to Lydia", expressing so well our feelings for her, and this was read by Elizabeth Escala.

Later on the program was a castanet solo by Katherine Georgopoulos of the Servicing-General Department. Katherine had everyone spellbound by her superb artistry and was enthusiastically applauded for her truly wonderful performance. Lydia was enthralled.

Last on the entertainment was music and dancing. Noel Colwell sang Lydia's favorite song "Red Roses For A Blue Lady" to her, and everyone joined in singing to the strains of Rudy's guitar. We will miss Lydia Hines.

IEEE BOASTS FAMOUS NAMES

Where but in IEEE would you expect to encounter a combination such as Bond (Gene Bond, TAB) and Goldfinger (Diane Goldfinger, TAB) in the same Department?

PROFILE

Since this is our first profile on what we hope will be a series, we have chosen a personality whom we think is a most unusual man, with an amazing past and present.

Dr. George W. Bailey was born in Quincy, Massachusetts on May 14, 1887, and graduated from Adams Academy in 1903, and from Harvard in 1907, where he was Treasurer of his class.

We could list chronologically the various posts he holds and has held, and the numerous organizations he heads and directed, but that would only reflect a rather flat image, and Dr. Bailey goes deeper than that. Besides, the "facts" can be found in "Who's Who" copies of which are available to the public. This article will concern itself with Dr. George Bailey, the man that we at IEEE have come to know and respect.

Dr. Bailey joined the IRE staff in 1945 as Executive Secretary. It is significant, we feel, that the great strides in expansion occurred coincidentally with his acceptance of that position. In 1945, IRE membership totaled 13,000. When IRE merged with AIEE, the membership total was approximately 100,000.

Those who work with Dr. Bailey never hesitate to consult him on their problems, and never fail to walk away satisfied. His quick mind grasps the essence of the problem and inevitably comes up with the solution. And of course there is always a little anecdote that draws a parallel and a laugh.

Words fall short, when trying to describe the essence of the character of one who has impressed his associates to the degree that Dr. Bailey has impressed us. It will have to suffice therefore, to recognize Dr. George Bailey for all the ways in which he has endeared himself to those of us who are fortunate enough to know him, and to further say that through his presence and leadership we have all gained in some way.

INTER-OFFICE MEMO

ACCOUNTING DEPARTMENT

THE MIGHTY MITE BOWLER

Arlene Ferrero's team placed third in the Immaculate Conception Bowling League of Astoria. Although her team finished third, she brought home the bacon in three categories, 1) High individual average 168, (not bad) 2) High individual series 581 (better), 3) a patch for a triple - three 180 games in a row (how about that) -- any challengers?

EDITORIAL

CALYPSO'S CALL

Honey Sauberman, veteran of a year on the IEEE editorial assistant staff, plans a vacation in Jamaica this summer -- she's heard, she says, that they have great calypso there... and great calypsoists? Honey leaves June 25 and will return July 5.

HALLS OF IVY BECKON

Jill Dorman will leave the IEEE in two weeks to attend the University of Wisconsin. She will work toward an M. A. in elementary education.

EDUCATION AND INFORMATION

GRADUATION

On June 10th, Madeline Eileen Kane, daughter of Madeline M. Kane, Education and Information Department, walked up the aisle of the auditorium of Mount St. Mary's Academy to receive her diploma. Madeline will resume her studies at the City College of New York in the fall, with the ambition of becoming a social worker.

OFFICE SERVICES

FLYING HIGH

Rita Kelley flew to Denver, Colorado last month to be on hand when her son, Andrew M. Kelley, received his B. A. degree from Regis College, on May 24.

REVEILLE

Irwin Berger, terminated his employment with the Institute on May 28 in order to accept another position... for the next two years you can send his mail c/o UNCLE SAM!

DICK EVANS RETURNS

Richard Evans, Shipping Department Supervisor, returned to his job at 46th Street on June 1. We had been deprived of his presence for ten weeks while he was recovering from a recent illness.

STEVEN STALMACK BANDED

A double ring ceremony joined Steve Stalmack and the former Sandra Nazario in matrimony. The wedding took place at 5 p.m. June 6th, in Sts. Peter and Paul R. C. Church, Brooklyn, and was followed by a reception. The honeymooning couple is spending two-weeks stopping at various New Jersey shore resorts.

NOT ON HIS TOES

On returning from his vacation, Raymond Diaz informs us that he had minor surgery at major expense, due to the removal of an ingrown toenail.

OOPS!

Tom Boucher, and John Haugh were given a sendoff on their retirement, however, there was an oversight in reporting due to the excitement of the first publication. Both have kept in touch with their old cronies, and are reported content and active in retirement.

PAT RE-DECORATES

We are pleased to welcome to the IEEE Staff Miss Patricia Corcoran, who joined us in the capacity of Administrative Secretary to the Standards Committee. Many of you will remember Pat from 'IRE' days, when she served as Assistant to L. G. Cumming. Pat has returned to us after a five-year absence during which time she was employed as a Staff Assistant in the Engineering Department of the Electronic Industries Association.

WAITING

Helene Cohen (Standards Department) left us this past Friday, June 4th, to await the birth of her first child. Although it is not expected until next December, Helene and her husband plan to move to Tuxedo

Park, New York this summer, making traveling to and from work rather difficult.

DIPLOMA RECIPIENT

We are pleased to report the graduation of Lee Anderson, son of John Anderson of our Standards Department, from the New Milford High School, New Milford, New Jersey. Lee's aspiration is to become a teacher and he will pick up the next phase of his learning in the fall, when he begins his freshman year at the Bob Jones University, in Greenville, South Carolina.

GIRL BORN TO BARBARA LAWLEY

An 8 lb. 1-1/2 oz. baby girl, named Carol Ann, was born to Barbara and Fred Lawley on May 14, 1965. Barbara was a member of the TAB staff for five years prior to the blessed event. Interestingly, Barbara and Fred met at the 1961 "IRE" Christmas party and subsequently merged on September 14, 1963.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

WEDDING BELLS

Wedding bells rang for Mike Sosa of our Treasury Department this past May, 29th. Mike and his bride are still enjoying their three week honeymoon -- destination unrevealed. We hope our IEEE softball team will be able to survive without him.

THE GOURMET

A spring-chicken treat -- elegant enough for that special rendez-vous, simple enough for every day dinner -- is Chicken Mandarin. For 2 to 3:

1 3-lb chicken (broiler or fryer, cut in 4 pieces)
Flour
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/4 to 1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 can frozen tangerine juice, allowed to thaw (takes about 15 minutes)
1 8-oz. can Mandarin orange sections
Wash chicken and pat dry. Dredge in flour-paprika mixture. Meanwhile, heat butter in frying pan; brown chicken till golden. Place browned chicken on rack in baking dish, pour any remaining butter from frying pan over it, and place in preheated 375° oven. After 10 minutes, pour tangerine juice over the chicken. Baste occasionally until chicken is tender -- about 45 minutes, depending on your oven. Pour drained Mandarin orange sections over chicken and warm 3 or 4 minutes more. Serve with rice pilaf and a fresh green salad.

For that very special evening, soak a 1-inch square of bread in cointreau and place in center of chicken, allowing some of the liquid to run over the meat, set a match to it, and bring it to the table aflame!

If you'd like your favorite recipe to appear in this bulletin, contact Margot Houston, Editorial Department.

THRU THE KEYHOLE

Down three steps, off the busy street into the little Armenian Restaurant with the red canopy, a menu of intriguing foods further increased our appetites.

Entrees, very reasonably priced, featured lamb and rice dishes at the Izmir, 121 Lexington Avenue between 28th and 29th St. Soup, salads, a la carte dinners, olive oil dishes, wines and beer (including Greekbeer) and desserts, were served at this clean eating place.

Kouzou Dolma, made with Izmir pilaf (rice) with currants, pine nuts, and topped with chunks of baked lamb was very satisfying. Patlijan Karni Yarik was a delicious portion of eggplant filled with lamb. The oven-baked dish was prepared with onions, pine nuts, and tomato.

One of the olive oil dishes served at the Izmir was Midia Dolma, mussels in the shell stuffed with rice, chopped onions and other spices. A delicious crispy, green salad prepared with special oil dressings is also to be recommended. Shish Kebab is one of the favorites of the customers there, we were told.

For dessert, Paklava, a pastry covered with fine shredded dough, filled with walnuts and covered with a honey syrup, or Tell Kadayiff, a special home made dough with a similar honey syrup preparation was a delightful finish to the dinner.

After a demitasse of sweet tasting, Armenian coffee, we left the small restaurant, tucked away from the usual maddening rush and crowds of the city, pleased that we had made a real find in the eating world.

IEEE BUCKS PERFECT RECORD

In keeping with, to coin a phrase, "Anything worth doing is worth doing well", the IEEE Bucks have attained thus far, an unblemished record - of losses... One might say that though it is somewhat on the negative side, we are at least consistent in our endeavors.
