PHILADELPHIA IN AUTUMN

Vacationing in a large city is for the young-at-heart. There's something doing every minute for the vigorous and curious. Philadelphia offers all the usual big city sights, entertainments and conveniences, but abundantly more. Conveniently close to downtown hotels are Independence Hall, the Betsy Ross House, and other shrines which annually attract 1.25 million visitors.

And right in the heart of downtown, too, are quaint Colonial and Victorian residential streets, endlessly fascinating to wander through.

You won't want to miss the famous antique and curiosity shops, chiefly clustered along Pine Street's "antique row," Ninth to 13th Streets. For more conventional shopping, there are a half-dozen large department stores, and scores of specialty shops.

In or near center city also are absorbing museums of art and science, and motion picture theatres offering both American and foreign films. Autumn also ushers in a busy concert and "live" theater season.

For your eating pleasure, Philadelphia has fine restaurants specializing in seafood or steaks, or Chinese, Russian, and Italian cooking.

Philadelphia, above all, is fine for a family vacation. This pamphlet can help you arrange an enjoyable visit, whatever your taste or budget.

PICNICS

Wonderful sites throughout the city, many with fireplaces. Consult MU 6-9700, ext. 925, for locations.

INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

A city-within-a-city, International Airport is as popular with sightseers as it is with travelers. Only a short ride from center city, the terminal building is air-conditioned, contains a sundry store, gift shop, cocktail lounges, and an amusement area. Its restaurant, one of the city's finest, features picture windows through which diners can watch landing and departing airliners. Field operations also are visible from piers jutting into the field which offer both enclosed and open-air promenades.

NEW! Four-stop Red Arrow bus service is available to the airport from 69th Street Philadelphia terminal, 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. New 41-passenger, air-suspension buses make the run. Fare: adults 43¢.

PHILADELPHIA'S CITY HALL

The view is spectacular from Philadelphia's City Hall Tower. Some 150 square miles are visible from the 547-foot height. At your feet are Fairmount Park, the Port of Philadelphia, and streaming downtown traffic. The building itself is fascinating. A European tour couldn't show you a finer example of French-renaissance style architecture. Within are the police radio room, fire alarm room, and gorgeous Mayor's reception room. Visit City Hall tower at any time, 9 to 4 p.m. Building tours originate from room 121.

Groups of ten or more having private transportation may arrange for special tours of the port, airport, and other installations at the City Representative's Office, room 201, MU 6-9700, ext. 943.

AUTUMN IN FAIRMOUNT PARK

The largest park in any American city offers hiking, horse-back riding, scenic beauty, and fascinating places to visit.

THE JAPANESE HOUSE

NEW! A bit of quaint and picturesque Japan now graces a corner of West Fairmount Park, Lansdowne Dr. at Belmont Ave. Patterned after 17th century models, the house itself recreates the typical tranquil home of a scholar or priest. Walls are sliding panels in Japanese fashion, while the sweet scent of the cypress wood construction permeates the interior. Adjoining are a tea-house, garden, pool and waterfall.

ACADEMY OF NATURAL SCIENCES . . . Exhibits of animal, plant and pre-historic life. Special Tropical Fish Show October 4-12, 1958. Adults 50¢, children 25¢. Group rates. 19th St. on the Parkway (at Race). Daily 10-5. LO 4-3921.
